Hoffman Visits Bruno's Home in Bronx to Test Prosecution Testimony

Hauptmann's Chief of Counsel Accompanies New Jersey Governor and Aides to Determine Status of Nail Holes.

ATTIC SCANNED

Hoffman Desires Findings to Make Results Available to Court of Pardons.

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

Trenton, N. J., March 26 (AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman went in person today to Bruno Richard Hauptmann's former Bronx home to test prosecution testimony that the nail holes in one rail of the kidnap ladder—"rail 16"—fitted nailholes in attic beams of the house.

The state successfully contended at Hauptmann's Flemington trial that rail 16 was originally part of a floor board in the Hauptmann attic. Arthur Koehler, federal wood technologist, testified the ladder rail had been cut from the floor board, part of which remained in the attic at the time of Hauptmann's arrest. The grain of the rail matched this floor-board, he swore, and the ladder rail nailholes fitted nailholes in the joists.

William Lagay, the governor's secretary, and Lieutenant Arthur Keaton of the New Jersey state police, were known to be in the house. The car of Lloyd Fisher, chief defense counsel, was parked near the two-family house where Hauptmann lived at the time of his arrest in September, 1934.

After the party had been two hours in the attic, they came down to the second floor, and apparently went into a conference.

The test was made at Governor Hoffman's direction because he desired its results to be available before the court of pardons meets to consider Hauptmann's second appeal for a commutation from the death sentence scheduled to be carried out next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Meanwhile, close personal friends of Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafse" of the ransom negotiations, expressed surprise at Governor Hoffman's refusal to accept the conditions which Condon outlined for the interview with him the governor has been seeking.

Koehler, testifying regarding the nail holes in rail 16, said at the Hauptmann trial, "Those nails fit perfectly. Now that indicated without any doubt in my opinion that the rail had at one time been nailed down there on those joists."

The nails, he said, fitted "not only as to direction and spacing, but also as to size."

The test, designed to check on Koehler's testimony by fitting the cut nails into the ladder rail and the attic beams, will be conducted, it was said, in the presence of Governor Hoffman, Attorney General David T. Wilentz, C. Lloyd Fisher, chief defense attorney, and representatives of the New Jersey state police and the New York city police.

The governor, it was understood, wanted the test completed before the special session of the court of pardons to which Hauptmann addressed a second appeal yesterday for commutation of his death sentence to life imprisonment. The court, if it decided to hear the appeal, probably would meet either Saturday or Monday.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, March 26 (AP)—The position of the treasury March 24: Receipts, $36,488,363.77; expenditures, $24,814,526.28. Net balance, $2,335,365,371.02. Customs receipts for the month, $25,956,943.67. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 1), $2,035,727,926.48. Expenditures, $5,217,917,866.41. Including $2,344,892,350.30 of emergency expenditures, $2,182,189,939.33. Gross debt, $31,436,281,070.88, a decrease of $1,911,335.59 under the previous day. Gold assets, $10,175,822,296.57.

44 Fishermen Sought

Reykjavik, Iceland, March 26 (AP)—Authorities sought today to clear up the mysterious disappearance of 44 shipwrecked fishermen who were reported marooned on a lonely sand point on the south coast of Iceland. A German trawler reported having sighted the men on the shore last night, but a rescue party which immediately started for the point returned at noon today to report it had failed to find any trace of them.

Heat of Planet Mercury

Pasadena, Cal., March 26 (AP)—Using a thermocouple—a tiny instrument weighing far less than a drop of water—Dr. Edison Pettit and Seth B. Nicholson have found the average temperature of the planet Mercury to be 424 degrees Fahrenheit. "That's just about the melting point of zinc," said Dr. Pettit in discussing a report of their work in the Astrophysical Journal.

V. F. W. Meeting Tonight

Guests from Middletown and Poughkeepsie will be present at a meeting of Joyce Schrick Post, a V. F. W. to be held at the Elcom on East Chestnut street tonight. Commander Green is anxious to have a number of guests at the meeting. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Spring Display Tonight By Local Merchants In Uptown Section of City

Display windows in the stores of about 50 of Kingston's uptown merchants were being dressed up today in preparation for the Spring Display which will take place in the uptown business section this evening.

There will be plenty to see on the business streets tonight. In the stores will be attractive displays of merchandise and on the street will be a display of automobiles, an open air automobile show put on by the Kingston Automotive Dealers' Association.

At 7 o'clock the drum corps of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, will leave the Legion Home and parade up Broadway to the uptown shopping district where during the evening from 7:30 until 9 o'clock, concerts will be played at various points in the shopping center.

At 7:30 o'clock there will be sounded three taps on the fire alarm system. This will be the signal for the merchants to unveil their windows and present to the public their wares.

Arrangements have been made to detour traffic around the uptown shopping center in order that there may be no confusion of accidents during the Spring Display hours. Shortly after the close of business this afternoon the police will take charge and direct through traffic. The business section will be reserved for the display of cars which are taking part in the Spring Display.

All types of stores and shops will participate in the display.

Engineers Are Busy In Highland Section Studying Road Change

A group of engineers and surveyors has been at work in the vicinity of Highland for some time making a survey of the proposed elimination of the narrow, crooked two strip roadway which extends from the Highland traffic circle to the Esopus town line. Plans were prepared some time ago following a survey for the elimination of the congestion in Highland by means of a viaduct which would bridge the depression in the village, leaving the existing road near the monument and running over the village on a viaduct to the east of the existing road and joining the north road at a point near the northern end of the village. From there on the general alignment of the present highway would be followed.

The survey which has just been made would make a considerable change in the route. This line which has been run would use the viaduct design to travel through the village but would run over a new alignment, practically straight to join the three strip concrete at the Esopus-Lloyd line. None of the present existing two strip concrete would be used. The new line runs to the east of the present highway, practically parallel to varying distances from the present road. This would eliminate the numerous turns on the route and would not interfere with traffic during the construction of the new road.

A survey has also been made of the two strip section of route 3-W through the town of Marlborough. Whether these surveys mean any construction this season on the routes cannot be ascertained but it is understood that the surveys have been completed so as to be in a position to take advantage of any appropriation for construction which may come through this year.

No rights of way have yet been secured by the board of supervisors for the Lloyd-Hoopes improvement. It is understood that the new alignment which has been mapped out from Highland to West Park is considered far better than to attempt to widen out the present crooked two strip roadway which now exists. This plan is somewhat similar to the White street plan except that too would make an use of the present crooked right of way north of the village.

Bernadotte Arrive

New York, March 26 (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte and his wife, the former Edith Mandell of New York, arrived on the liner Conte di Savoia today. They will go to El Estero, the Swedish country home at Pleasantville, N. Y. With them were the countess's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Biram Edward Mandell, and the countess's sister, Mrs. Folke, Jr., and Bert. The Bernadottes were stopped in mourning. Their eldest son, Gustavus, named after his great-grandfather, the King of Sweden, died recently.

Albany, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The Legislature voted today to extend milk control for another year. After a lengthy and at times fiery debate, the Senate by a vote of 30 to 13 concurred with the Assembly in approving the Dunn measure and sent it to Governor Lehman for his signature.

The executive is expected to give swift approval, inasmuch as the present law expires April 1.

The Dunn bill continues the law in its present form, with a powerful division of milk control in the Department of Agriculture. The division has the power to supervise and regulate the entire milk industry, including production, transportation, manufacture, storage, distribution, delivery and sale of milk and milk products.

The Senate did not give approval until after two attempts had been made to amend the bill. Both were beaten by a viva voce vote.

One amendment, offered by Senator Philip M. Kleinfeld, New York Democrat, would have made the one-cent differential in favor of independent dealers apply to all independent dealers instead of those who were in business before April 10, 1933. The present provision has been held unconstitutional.

Another, offered by Senator Martin W. Deyo, Broome Republican, would have continued milk control only until next November 1. Both amendments were voted down.

Deyo said that "nobody really knows whether control should be extended or not," and that inasmuch as the Legislature will convene two months after November 1, it would afford an opportunity for the milk industry to continue "on its own for a brief period as an experiment."

Action Deferred

The Assembly deferred today until next Tuesday consideration of the Todd bill making three years separation a ground for divorce in New York state. Adultery is now the only ground.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA CROPS ARE ENDANGERED

San Francisco, March 26 (AP)—Billions of black smoke hung over the orchards of northern California today after a return visit by Jack Frost.

Throughout the night long rows of red-hot smudge pots and burning piles of brush generated smoke for the protection of budding fruit trees. In the Marysville district discarded motor car tires were used for fuel, one rancher laying in a supply of 10,000.

A. E. Morrison, Sacramento county agricultural commissioner, expressed fear today damage already done by the cold wave indicates the apricot, almond, peach and early plum crops in the lower foothill regions of the Sacramento Valley will be "practically wiped out."

Southern California citrus groves escaped damage, although temperatures ranged in the low 30's.

Rail and motor traffic in northern Arizona and New Mexico was disrupted by a 10-inch fall of snow and schools at Flagstaff were closed because of the cold. Fourteen inches of snow fell at the Grand Canyon and temperatures dropped to 18 degrees.

A storm that moved down the east face of the Continental Divide left a blanket of snow over most of Wyoming, northern and western Colorado, and western New Mexico. Dust clouds hung over southeastern Colorado, southwestern Kansas and the Oklahoma Panhandle yesterday. Visibility was reduced to zero in some sections of Colorado.

20 Dead, 60 Hurt in Blast

Mexico City, March 26 (AP)—Twenty persons were known dead and nearly 60 were injured today after an explosion of a carload of dynamite at the railroad station of Toluca, in the state of Mexico. The passenger and freight stations, a water tank, ten freight cars and several houses in the small railroad junction town 125 miles northwest of the capital were destroyed by the blast. Railways were torn up for hundreds of yards. A coal car in which a fire had started broke loose yesterday, rolled along a siding and crashed into the car laden with dynamite, which was awaiting shipment to a mining company.

Fletcher Withdraws Appeal

New York, March 26 (AP)—Mother, sister and a woman friend came to the defense today of Captain Ralph E. Fletcher, quartermaster at Fort Schuyler, who is being tried by court martial on a charge of converting army materials to his own use. Three women testified regarding Thanksgiving dinner, 1934, at the home of Mrs. Rose Greenman, sister of the defendant, in Brooklyn. Mrs. Greenman and Captain Fletcher's mother denied he brought any food for the dinner and that their mother had been purchased in a neighborhood store.

Western New York State Farmlands, Roads Under Flood, One Man is Dead

Creeks in Genesee Valley Overflow Banks; Body of 70-year-old Allegany Oil Man Found in Creek.

OHIO RIVER FALLS

Ohio River Valley Residents Busy at Rehabilitation; Pittsburgh Returning to Old Activities.

Rochester, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—Swollen streams overflowed their banks, inundating farmlands and highways in several Western New York communities today.

Creeks in the Genesee valley, unable to empty into the river, backed up their channels and flooded fields and roads. The Rochester Weather Bureau predicted the crest of the Genesee's present high water would pass without extensive damage.

Melting snow caused flooded streets as creeks rose in five villages of the Buffalo area.

The body of William Blessing, 70-year-old Allegany oil producer, was found today in Five-Mile creek. The medical examiner said death was caused by a heart attack, believed brought on by the exertion of crossing the flooded stream yesterday.

Lakes and streams remained high in Central New York. The Oswego river was reported to be at the highest level in a century.

In the upper Genesee valley, lowlands were inundated and many roads were under water. Automobile travel in the vicinity of Genesee, Caledonia and Leicester was virtually halted.

In the Canasota creek valley, between Mt. Morris and Canastota, 4,000 acres of land were reported to be inundated. Crops and nursery stocks were ruined, farmers said.

In Lackawanna, Buffalo suburb, Smoke's creek overflowed and several persons abandoned their homes late last night. They returned when the water began to recede.

Blasdell, Sloan, Ebenezer and Cheektowaga reported wide areas of farms inundated and streams running curb high in the main streets.

The Allegany river at Olean and Salamanca rose three feet in 24 hours but remained within its banks. The Oswego river undermined part of a dike at Fulton, sweeping the foundations from under a tower carrying high tension wires to several plants. The wires snapped when the tower fell.

Low spots along the banks of the Syracuse-Oswego road were flooded.

Ohio River Subsidees

Wheeling, W. Va., March 26 (AP)—Slowly rising waters of the Ohio river splashed into lowland streets today but caused little apprehension among inhabitants struggling for recovery from the great inundation of last week.

The crest of the new rise, due after nightfall, was expected by rivermen to cause virtually no damage beyond obstructing street car and highway traffic and flooding basements of some buildings and homes. Relief and rehabilitation work remained the uppermost problem of citizens and their leaders. The new rise deferred plans of some refugees to return to homes.

The death toll reached 15 in West Virginia with the addition of nine-year-old James Millam to the list of victims. The boy fell from a raft and drowned in Kanawha river at Charleston.

The Ohio remained stationary downstream at Point Pleasant and Huntington. WPA workers continued the clean-up drive at nearby Wellsburg, officials declared the city's drinking water supply safe once more.

The latest rise of the Ohio put a few streets under water in the lower part of Wheeling Island, in the middle of the Ohio river, and at nearby Benwood Junction, but the damage was slight.

Rivermen said the new crest, at 44 feet would reach there at 7 p. m. The expected peak would halt street cars once more and cover some of the low sections which were the hardest hit in the previous inundation which reached the history-making level of 56 feet.

Red Cross workers evacuated several families which had just returned.

Tax Program Passes House Ways and Means Without Any Change

Washington, March 26 (AP)—The House Ways and Means committee today accepted without change the tax program worked out by a subcommittee as a basis for open hearings on the administration revenue program.

The report contained recommendations, already disclosed, for a new form of corporation tax based on percentages of net income held in reserves, designed to yield $591,000,000.

It included, too, a proposal for a 90 cent per "windfall" tax on "unjust enrichment occurring as a result of nonpayment" of old AAA processing taxes.

No new processing taxes, as suggested by the President, or any other form of excise levies, were embraced in the report.

One hitherto unrevealed feature was that railroads would be subject to the tax on undistributed corporate income but that they would be allowed to retain the privilege of filing consolidated returns.

Some committee members said railroads would pay no more taxes under this arrangement than they do now, and perhaps less.

"I want to make it clear," said Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.), of the full committee, "that the report has been accepted only as the basis for hearings."

The 10-page report was devoted merely to explanations of the projected new tax program, without comment on the merits of any of the proposals.

President Roosevelt had suggested that $520,000,000 of additional federal revenue be obtained through taxes on corporation dividends and undistributed net income and $517,000,000 more over two or three years from the windfall and new-broader processing levies.

60,000 Ruck in Spain

Badajoz, Spain, March 26 (AP)—Detachments of storm police and civil guards rushed to this city and province today in an effort to quell 60,000 farm laborers who suddenly swarmed over the farms of this area. The police were instructed to avoid using firearms unless they were fired on, but the situation was tense. The labor government's delay in redistributing lands, edged many war veterans. Premier Manuel Azana sent orders from Madrid that the peasants must wait until the lands can be distributed legally.

Illness Suits

Los Angeles, March 26 (AP)—The examiner says a divorce suit will be filed today by Sylvia Sidney, screen star, against Bennett Cerf, New York book publisher. The proceeding has been contemplated by the actress since she announced a separation recently because of "differences in temperament."

Operation on Tongue

Philadelphia, March 26 (AP)—Philadelphia Hospital authorities said an unusual operation had been performed successfully to remove the tongue of a woman, an old girl born with a cleft tongue. The operation proceeded removal of a "cleft" tongue into the child's mouth.

Washington, March 26 (AP)—Robert E. Clements, California real estate man who helped build the Townsend old age pension movement, took the witness stand today in the $50,000 House investigation of the program.

The huge caucus room of the House office building was crowded—largely with persons near the 60-year age at which the Townsend plan would begin its $200 a month pension—as the 41-year-old co-founder of the Townsend organization came forward.

"Startling" revelations had been promised by committee members. Clements, who resigned only this week as secretary of the Townsend movement, was accompanied by former Senator Thomas W. Hardwick of Georgia, his counsel.

Although he had said a five or ten-ton truck would be required to bring up all the material the committee wanted, the Californian had only a large, tan brief case.

James R. Sullivan, of Kansas City, special committee counsel, opened the interrogation.

Many legislators were counting on the investigation to smash the nationwide Townsend movement so thoroughly that it would play no considerable part in the November elections. On the other hand, Townsendites predicted their organization would emerge vindicated and stronger than ever.

Chairman of the Investigators is Representative Bell (D-Mo.), who has branded the plan to pay $200 a month government pensions to all persons over 60 as "fantastic, impossible and fraudulent." He has said his men have collected "startling" data.

First witness summoned was Robert E. Clements, California real estate man who resigned Tuesday as co-organizer and second in command of the Townsend movement after a split with Dr. E. Townsend. He had on tap a "five-ton truckload" of documents which, he said, would show that he had accounted for "every postage stamp" out of a total of $850,000 he collected.

The investigating committee was named after the House heard charges that old age pension organizations had collected large sums in money and dues from old people for "phantom" schemes.

Dr. E. Townsend, once an obscure physician in Long Beach, Cal., is expected to be an early witness. Townsendites say the idea of $200 a month pensions financed by a 2 per cent tax on all transactions came to him while he was shaving one morning in Long Beach. He looked out the window and saw three old women collecting scraps from garbage cans. Soup afterward he began distributing his old age pensions "pamphlet" with results which, he said, surprised even him.

Congress with its eye on the November elections, is concerned with the political ramifications of the inquiry. The Townsend organization has announced its members will support candidates pledged to the Townsend plan, regardless of party affiliations.

British Foreign Secretary Says Germany Must Make Contribution Toward Losing Situation; Critical Period Ahead.

NAVAL TALKS

U. S. and Great Britain Follow Up Signing of Naval Treaty With Talks With Japan.

By G. H. ANDERSON (Associated Press Foreign Staff)

London, March 26 (AP)—The Locarno powers' proposals to settle the Rhineland crisis allayed the immediate prospect of war moves, Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, told the House of Commons today in reaffirming Great Britain's obligations under the Locarno treaty.

Declaring Germany must make a contribution toward easing the situation, the foreign secretary said: "I do not view the future with a light heart."

"I believe we are beginning a period which must, at best, be one of the most critical in international negotiations," he said.

The recent proposals, coming "at a moment of crisis," he said, allayed the "immediate prospects of steps being taken which might have led to war."

Captain Eden said he felt the "latent dangers" of the situation had not yet been "wholly appreciated."

"We must have a contribution from Germany toward easing the situation," he declared. "The fact that none has been forthcoming saves the chancellor's undertaking not to increase the number of troops which originally entered the zone."

By ALBERT W. WILSON (Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press) Talks With Japan

London, March 26—The United States and Great Britain followed up today the signing of the new London naval treaty, a British spokesman said, with diplomatic conversations with Japan concerning fortifications and naval bases in the Far East.

The new pact failed to renew Article 19 of the Washington naval limitations treaty, by which the three powers agreed that no new fortifications or naval bases should be established in designated far eastern territories and possessions.

The British naval spokesman said the diplomatic negotiations over this question were undertaken in answer to a Japanese request for information as to the future intentions of the other Great Sea Powers toward the Far East.

Japan did not sign the new treaty, having quit the naval conference after its demands for full fleet equality were opposed by the United States and Britain.

The United States and Britain agreed privately to maintain their stance on an equal basis.

American, British and French delegates, however, after signing yesterday the accord to replace the expiring Washington treaty of 1922 and the London pact of 1930, expressed hope that Japan and Italy would enter the fold later.

Ambassador Dino Grandi declared at the signing ceremony that the initial assistance agreements concluded by Britain with other Mediterranean powers to meet any unexpected Fascist attack barred the way for Italian adherence to the treaty.

Norman H. Davis and other members of the American delegation bade farewell to their associates in the three and one-half months of negotiations for the new treaty before sailing for home at midnight aboard the S. S. Washington.

The delegates expressed confidence that the treaty bearing "peace" clauses to ensure liberty of action to meet unexpected developments—would be ratified by the Senate at the present session of Congress.

The treaty, raising restrictions on the size of native navies, limiting the number and size of classes of ships and providing for a change of information on building programs, will go into effect for six years, if ratified starting January 1, 1937, upon the death of the existing treaty.

Close Study Adopted

Washington, March 26 (AP)—A feeling that the new tri-power naval treaty should be studied closely by the Senate roles on the question of ratifying it was expressed today by Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) of the powerful Senate foreign relations committee.

Pittman did not mention Japan in his comment on the pact signed yesterday by Great Britain, the United States and France, but he said he has indicated that an "informed" study of the treaty is being made by the committee.

Huge "Eye" Leaves Corning for the West

Corning, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—A six-million dollar piece of glass, bound for the California Institute of Technology Observatory, left here at sunrise today on a freight car specially equipped to carry the 200-inch telescope "eye" on its trans-continental journey.

The 20-ton glass casting, which will be used as a mirror for the world's largest telescope, was drawn by a locomotive which will go no faster than 25 miles an hour during the 3,300-mile trip to Pasadena, Cal. There were no spectators except railroad men and Dr. George V. McCauley, Corning glass works physician, his wife and daughter, as the three-car special train wheeled out of the siding. Aboard the caboose were seven members of the train crew and eight officials representing the railroads which will carry the largest piece of glass in the world 3,300 miles to its destination at Pasadena, Cal.

Dr. McCauley, who has watched over the disc and superintended every move since the 20-ton casting was poured more than two years ago, had no comment.

Smiling as he watched the train leave, he was asked if he was glad to see it out of his hands and safely on its way.

"My face will tell you that," he replied.

The New York Central Railroad has charge of the valuable cargo as far as Cleveland. It is expected to reach the west coast in about a week. After several years in the grinding shops the mirror will be installed in the new observatory of the California Institute of Technology on Mt. Palomar.

Its total cost has been estimated as high as $6,000,000.

Undeclared Actions Disposed of in Court

Two undeclared actions were disposed of in Supreme Court Wednesday. No. 142, Morris Glusker of Ellenville was awarded a verdict of $50 in an action for goods sold and delivered which he brought against George Gottlieb of New York. Joseph Kooperman appeared for plaintiff.

The second action was one in negligence. Bruno Hungef of Kingston brought an action for personal injuries against Daniel Buckley of Woodstock. This action arose out of an accident last September on Broadway. N. LeVan Haver appeared for plaintiff. The jury reported shortly after the opening of court in the afternoon and awarded plaintiff a verdict in the sum of $775. Jurors were then excused until 10 o'clock this morning.

SHOKAN

Shokan, March 25—C. H. Stokes, well-known Kerhonkson miller, was a caller here Monday.

Robert and John Lawson, members of the freshmen class at Yale University, are enjoying a vacation at their home on the Tuculug farm. Lawrence Spencer, one of the newer residents of Shokan, is making a number of improvements to his place on the north boulevard.

Miss Verna Giles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Giles, is spending a vacation at Atlantic City.

Otto Grossman, west end boarding house proprietor, is siding the exterior of his new cabins with slabs, giving the buildings a log-house effect.

Reese Singer of Maybrook was numbered among the callers in the hub of the reservoir country Sunday.

A blight is noted on the rock oak, or chestnut oak trees in this section. Quite a number of the trees have died and many others reveal symptoms of the disease which appears to be a fungous growth not unlike the chestnut blight of another generation. The rock oak is perhaps the most valuable commercial wood in northern Ulster today, thousands of cords being cut and sold annually for fuel.

Harold Feeny, well-known Boiceville young man, has invested in one of the new Oldsmobiles.

A social will be held Friday evening in the Reformed Church basement, the proceeds to be donated to the fund for the relief of flood sufferers. There will be tables for cards and dominoes. Refreshments will be served. A small admission charge only will be made. Every one is cordially invited to attend the party, have a pleasant evening and incidentally help in a worthy cause. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hyatt of West New York were the guests Saturday of Mrs. Hyatt's sister, Mrs. Fred Adair, and family.

The Shokan Social Eight will meet Thursday evening of this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Giaccone.

Several residents of the village report hearing a very loud clap of thunder Friday night. Others, strangely enough, claim to have seen the lightning but heard no thunder.

March 25, 1894, the death took place of Mrs. Jere Van Vleet, a respected resident of Shokan. Funeral services, held in the Reformed Church on the 28th and very largely attended, were conducted by the Rev. George Niemeyer, pastor of the church. The Van Vleet family for a time made their home in the old Brodhead stone house, more recently known as "Wheatlink" and occupied by the late J. Waldo Smith as a summer residence.

The placing of 1,000 over legal size brown trout in the Esopus creek above Shokan is good news to local fishermen, several of whom will doubtless get their share of the piscatorial increase. James A. Hartvix, one of the best fishermen among the summer resident colony, makes some of his most successful catches of trout in the creek between the head of the west basin and Cold Brook. The site of the old Boiceville excelsior mill is one of the favorite spots for those who like to fish for the larger varieties of trout.

The True Blue Club will meet Thursday afternoon in the Shokan schoolhouse following the close of classes. An election of officers will take place at this meeting.

Postmaster J. Winchell, Olive Red Cross chairman, reports a hearty response in the recent relief contributions. A total of $12 has been given within the past few days.

Charles Dulast of Boiceville has a big pile of saved lumber on his mill-yard opposite the former CCC camp. It is quite like old times to see a sawmill apparently prospering in this section, where in the early days each house had enough to fill a barn had at least one mill on its banks.

E. C. Hewitt of New York city was included among the out of town business men seen on our streets Monday.

Mrs. Mary Bryn of Springfield, Mass., accompanied by her niece, Mrs. Cornelius Treadwell, of Kingston, called on friends here Sunday afternoon.

Aid for Damage by Floods in Ulster

Albany, March 26 (Special)—Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Assemblyman J. Edward Conway, Ulster county's two state legislators, have conferred with Captain Arthur W. Brant, superintendent of highways, in an effort to secure aid for damage done by floods in Ulster county, the Freeman learned today.

Captain Brant was assured that either federal or state aid would be forthcoming for this reconstruction program, and financial assistance may be expected as soon as either state or federal government decide which is to render it.

Ulster county suffered second to all counties in the state from loss of bridges, and it is the policy of the highway department to sponsor their reconstruction. Full cooperation with county officials including the county superintendent of highways has been promised from Brant.

The Mt. Pleasant bridge project was mentioned in the conference, and new cribbing for the roadway about this place will be constructed.

At the same time Assemblyman Conway attempted to have the state road leading out of Kingston past the airport toward Phoenix re-surfaced, but Brant could give no encouragement to this because of lack of funds.

This highway was changed to the state highway system last year by a special act of the legislature which Conway sponsored. It was formerly under the authority of New York city which was responsible for its repairs.

WEAK WOMEN

MANY women suffer from headache, periodic pains in side or back, catarrhal drains, "heat flashes," they should try that vegetable tonic favorably known for nearly 70 years as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Read this Mrs. L. Sileow of 361 South Avenue, Medina, N. Y. said: "My housework became a burden because I felt so tired all the while and had frequent headaches. I had hardly any energy. There was a heavy pain across my back that kept me from sleeping. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription entirely rid me of the headache, and relieved me of the ache in the small of the back. I felt stronger and had more energy, too." Buy of your druggist now.

Donates Use of Theatre On Wall Street for Big Industrial Minstrels

Friday evening, May 1, is the date, and Walter Reade's Kingston Theatre on Wall street is the place where the big industrial minstrel show under the auspices of the mayor's industrial committee will be held.

A committee composed of Max L. Reben, George W. Moore and H. La-Mont Wither of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation while in New York city yesterday made arrangements with Walter Reade for the free use of the Kingston Theatre on Wall street for the evening of May 1, at which time the minstrel will be given by talent recruited from the local business men under the direction of Frank Oulton and Alderman Paul Zucca.

Valley Firemen to Meet in Middletown

The 47th annual convention and parade of the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held in Middletown, June 23 to 25, with the big parade on the last day. The firemen of Middletown expect to see from thirty to forty thousand visitors in that city on parade day.

As far as known none of the Kingston fire companies have decided as yet to take part in the big parade that brings the convention to a close.

It is estimated that the parade and convention will cost the city of Middletown the sum of $8,400. Of that sum the city has already appropriated $4,000, and the remainder is to be raised by block dances, program advertising and boxing shows.

Nearly 60 out of town fire companies it is said have already signified their intention of taking part in the parade, and the committee plans to feed 3,000 firemen on parade day, a huge tent to be erected for that purpose.

RADIO METERS

The latest detective device is one used to find out what radio patrons
 like. "Radio meters" scattered through the cities or neighborhoods,
 and attached to the radio sets, record
 the time during which a set is used,
 also the name of the station tuned
 in, and all station changes. These instruments, distributed in Boston
 among all social classes in a way to make their reports representative, show various interesting facts, including this: That when news, jazz and melodrama are offered at the same time, people with incomes above $2,500 a year tend to choose the first, people with incomes from $2,500 down to $1,200 choose the second, and people below $1,200
 choose the third. A distinguished employer of amateur talent is said to draw equally well from all three —showing, we suppose, that "there is neither East nor West, border nor breed nor birth" where amateurs
 are concerned.

The next step, perhaps, will be to fasten thought-recorders on listeners' heads to show what they think of the programs from minute to minute. Scientists have been getting excited lately about an electric device recording thought waves.
 They may fail, though, where radio is concerned. Too many radio programs don't seem to have anything to do with thought.

SPANISH DECADENCE

They have been burning churches lately in Madrid. A recent cable told of the sky over the capital being "red with the reflection of blazing churches, a convent and a newspaper plant." It is a sad plight for the proud capital of a once great empire, of which the members have all fallen away, leaving only the head and heart—and they scarcely functioning.

Spain, shrunken again to the old Iberian peninsula that formed a rich colony of ancient Rome and went back into history, 2,000 years before that, has seemed to be going to pieces the last five years, since the exile of Alfonso, the last of the Bourbon kings. The republic has not been able to govern. One administration has given way to another. Party rancor and confusion have led to civil war. The trend is ever more radical. The Barcelona anarchists were put down a couple of years ago. Now there is Socialism drifting toward Communism.

Some pessimists think Spain is an example of the fate overhanging Europe in general. It is well, though, not to give blanket judgment about such matters. There has never been a time in the last 4,000 or 5,000 years when some Mediterranean civilization was not going to pieces. Yet always the light has been kept blazing—either the apparently dying nation regaining its vigor, or some neighbornation taking up the torch and carrying on.

DUTCH DATES

The University of Kansas "goes Dutch" in the matter of social dates.
 It has been agreed by the Men's Student Council and the Women's Self-governing Association, in joint resolution, that hereafter the campus spending shall be shared. Expenses for all dates shall be borne equally by the two persons concerned, instead of the man carrying all, or most, of the load. "Do not have a false sense of chivalry" is the new college motto.

Like most motions, cynical observations will have their doubts about its observance. Chivalry is a very old institution. However outmoded or undemocratic or unfair, some ventures of it still remain, in spite of industrialism, office work, woman's suffrage and other association of the sexes. Everybody knows how hard it is for any man's group, or any woman's group, to enforce "Dutch"
 rules among its own members.
 It is naturally harder where broad-sexes are involved. Men will still want to pay for the party, if not from the ancient protective pose,

 then from a natural gesture of generosity. And some women will be tempted—well, maybe not exactly to chisel, but to play up to this ingratiating form of masculine egotism.

STREET NAMES

A new way of marking city streets,
 used particularly in southern states,
 is to paint the names on the curbsstones. This method is favored mainly for its ease and cheapness.
 The job can be done quickly with stencils, in any desired color. If the paint wears off, it is easy to put on again. There is another reason, possibly more important than cheapness,
 which recommends it to some cities.
 When properly done, it may be more visible than the usual street signs.
 Old-fashioned signs are often set back from the curb, or placed on buildings
 rather than posts. They get faded and dirty, and sometimes disappear entirely, and replacement is slow
 because of the cost.

The person looking for the name of a street nowadays is usually driving, and should have the signs especially adapted to his use. If painting the name on the curbstone is inadequate, then a post bearing the name should be close to the curb
 at the right-hand corner, clearly visible to the approaching driver.
 Uniformity in this respect would promote business and general convenience.

IMPROVING CIRCULATION.

In chronic rheumatism when damage has already been done to the joints, but the individual is able to get about to some extent, the benefit of heat in allaying pain, relaxing
 the tightened muscles, and promoting the circulation has long been known. The heat is applied in various ways—baking, in electric light cabinet, hot applications, diathermy
 —electric current reaching into the tissues—and other methods.

One of the difficult points about rheumatism is that the individual has to rest the joint to avoid pain.
 This resting of course interferes with or slows up the circulation and the proper circulation of the blood is necessary to health and recovery.
 In addition, to not moving the joints any more than he can help,
 the rheumatism patient doesn't have
 to exercise his body to any extent,
 which means that all the working processes of the body—digestion, circulation of blood, proper breathing to purify the blood, getting rid of wastes from the kidneys, skin and lower bowel—are all working below their normal rate so that the working ability of the entire body is below normal.

You can thus see that any treatment that will improve the circulation of the blood is excellent treatment in rheumatism. In fact, excellent treatment in any ailment.

Dr. L. T. Swaim, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, says: "Good circulation produces
 healing, and heat in any form, dry, moist or diathermy improves circulation, drawing blood to the part. The second best method of improving circulation is massage (except when the joints are swollen). Exercise comes next; active exercise if possible, but exercise in some form."
 The correction of the posture (the way the individual stands or sits) can best be started in bed where every case of arthritis (rheumatism)
 should begin. Extending the body
 as much as possible with the pillow under the shoulders, with the hands under the head, will expand the chest, widen the space between the ribs of each side in front, and raise the diaphragm (the floor of the chest). This raises all the organs of the abdomen, and the pump action of the diaphragm gives better circulation throughout all parts of the body.

Golden Rain

by Margaret C. Widener

"All right." They were settling themselves in the last, by a known routine, the girls on each side of Phina. Owen on the folding seat in front.

"I can't get over the casual way
 you use taxi." Iris couldn't help saying.

"The limousine's no good for the theater district," said Owen, above his cupped hands, manipulating his lighter. "In fact, no private car is."
 "Well, I like the feeling that if you have your car down there the taxi people have to wait," said Sigrid pertly.

"You could have the runabout,"
 said Owen hastily, as if to check something Phina was going to say.
 Iris felt dimly that Owen was nervous when the two women were talking. And yet they worked together.

And the vague feeling of antagonism was dimmed by the teatime inference; two cars, evidently, Owen's
 runabout and Phina's limousine.
 Was she a greedy pig like that taxi
 was a commonplace, and limousines
 and runabouts a casual possession?

And then they entered the warm white and gold brilliance of the lobby; there were little under-girls in gay costumes like French cadets; the party swept forward
 down the aisle to orchestra seats;
 the orchestra began playing heavenly merry dancing music; the curtain presently rose on a stage full of slim beautiful girls in long rose-colored gowns, leaping and laughing with exquisite precision.

The long lovely curves of the dance, the light and color and music,
 so moved Iris that her eyes filled with tears. She hoped they didn't see her, and presently she was laughing with the rest. She did not know that the others watch her with amused pleasure at her frank rapture.

"I'm dying for a cigaret," Sigrid
 said, at the end of the first act.
 "Come on out in the lobby."

"YES, you go, Iris, I'll stay here," said Phina, who looked a little tired after her trip. After all, she was human. So the young ones, Iris, in her black and rose, alight and excited, small Sigrid with her silvery head, Owen, slow and casual,
 climbed over three stout sulky im-
 movable women and down the aisle
 to the gorgeous lobby. The smoke was thick. Somebody finally opened the front door, letting in a gust of spring air.

"Oh, that's good," Iris said thankfully, supposing she was next Owen.
 "You bet, baby," said the man beside her, and she found she was looking at the red-headed Dicky who had tried to make friends with her on the chair car that afternoon. His party had evidently also decided to end the evening at this, the most popular of the revues.

"We meet again!" said he, with a hand on his shirt front. "Who's the platinum blonde? You kept her from me."

"Sigrid Swenson. The name is Swedish, so you needn't wisecrack,
 beautiful," said Sigrid for herself
 behind Iris. "And you, young stranger?"

"Dicky Hamilton. The name is Czechoslovakian. Cigaret?"

"Sure, I'm nonchalant. Seen you somewhere lately. No, I'm not trying to make you a kid."

"Yep, that's right, I remember the silver wheels. But I don't know where. Where I saw the other one was on the train coming over from Philly this p. m. from the game. I was just getting her sold on the gang when Allan pulled me off her—what he is. Hey, I know. Phina Weatherley's. George Blair dragged me in there last week."

"That's right. He's the junior partner," said Sigrid, which impressed Dicky, or at least he stopped talking long enough for her to continue.

"Iris is her niece. Owen's her nephew—Phina's."

Owen was beside the two girls,
 listening to Sigrid's quick patter of talk with something of Uncle Will's detached serenity. The handsome nutcracker face, black-eyed, bright-painted, black-haired, of the girl called Georgia pushed in beside Dicky's. Her red dress, her spatter of glittering earrings and necklace
 and clips and buckles all focused on Owen.

"We saw you both," she said with emphatic friendliness. "You never waked all the way across. Do you always sleep like that?" She had a sharp possessive charm when she smiled.

"Curtain's going up," said the cool
 voice of the tall man Allan from behind the rest. He and Iris smiled at each other like friends. Georgia pulled from the other groups as they widened apart, getting a thin glittering hand on Owen's arm.

Iris, a little older, is still waiting tomorrow.

STATE INCOME TAX

By MARK GRAVES

(Commissioner of Taxation and Finance)

Article 7—Deductions for Taxes

Continuing the explanation of deductions allowable under the New York State personal income tax,

which is payable on or before April

15, I would like to consider today

the payment of other taxes.

Taxes on real property, other than assessments for improvements,

automobile license fees and state

caroline taxes may be subtracted from gross income. Federal taxes

on telephone and telegraphic message, safety deposit boxes, club

dues, admission, and the various stamp taxes on securities and deeds

are likewise deductible.

It is well to note, however, that certain other federal taxes are not deductible in the computation of net income, for the reason that they are not levied against the purchaser or consumer, but fall upon the manufacturer or distributor.

Included in this group are the taxes upon automobiles, lubricating oil, gasoline, tires and other automobile accessories, cigarettes, chewing gum, candy, the amusements,
 soft drinks, jewelry, mail, syrup,
 soap, concentrates, radios, phonograph records and a variety of others in the same category.

Neither federal nor state income tax payments are deductible. It might be well to point out also that nonresidents are allowed deductions
 for taxes only when they are definitely connected with their New York income or with property located in this state, which is carried as an investment.

Estate, inheritance, legacy, succession and gift taxes are not deductible regardless of the method of levy or the jurisdiction by which levied.

TALKS TO PARENTS

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

Traveling

On one side of the car at a little girl of about six, trying hard to do nothing and to keep still while doing
 it. Her mother was reading an absorbing book, but the child had no means of passing the time except to watch the scenery and her fellow-travelers. Every time she squirmed or complained her mother reproved
 her and exhorted her to be good
 and not disturb other people.

On the other side of the car a very different scene was being enacted. A small boy of about eight was supposedly sitting with his mother, who was also reading a novel. Either her novel was more interesting than the other woman's or she was less concerned for the comfort of the passengers. The small boy made traveling unpleasant for everyone. He charged up and down the aisle, swarmed over the backs of seats, disturbed everyone
 by his noisy comments and shouts,
 and generally made himself a nul-
 lance.

In the one case the child suffered,
 in the other, everyone except the child. Only the two mothers seemed undisturbed.

Traveling with children is an art and must be studied. No child should be forced to sit still without occupation for even an hour's ride.
 Many cases of car-sickness originate as a protest against such a strain. It is hard on the eyes to look out of the window and continually refocus on passing objects; and people as such have no interest for most youngsters. On the other hand it is selfish and unsocial to permit
 a child to annoy others.

The wise mother carries paper
 and pencils in her bag, or a simple puzzle which the child can work;
 or she gives up the idea of reading and plays games with the little traveler.
 Counting animals or birds can be as amusing for mother as child.

Honey Bear Speaks

IT WAS strange that there could be a sound heard by Honey Bear and not by Jelly Bear or the cubs Jupiter and Blacky. Particularly was it strange that Jelly Bear could not hear it.

"Yes, I want to hear it again. I want to be sure. I do not want to where I am not needed. But I think I am needed. Something has happened.
 But I want to be very certain."

"What are you talking about?"
 asked Jelly Bear. The two cubs looked at their mother in wonder-ment.

"Jelly Bear certainly could not understand it."
 "We'd better have something more
 to eat while waiting for you to tell us," he said, and began feasting at an ant hill. The cubs joined in this feast, and Honey Bear did, too.

"I'll need strength and nourishment," said Jelly Bear. "You need it now, as a matter of fact. And we all need it now. We aren't nearly so husky looking as we should be—as we shall be as soon as we get more
 to eat inside us."

"I'll eat and then I'm going to find out if the sound is what I think,"
 said Honey Bear.

"What do you think it is?" asked Jelly Bear.

"I think," she said slowly, "that I hear the whimper of a little bear cub."

"Then you have better ears than I have," said Jelly Bear.

"I have a mother bear's ears," she whispered.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—The bill collector
 with the toughest job in Washington at the present, oddly enough,
 is no one connected with the New Deal, but is the first congressional representative of the new Philippine commonwealth.

His name is Quintin Paredes, insular secretary of justice before the islands were voted their independence.

There's approximately $50,000-
 600 involved—probably more important to Paredes and the Philippines than the $12,000,000 owed this country as world war debts. Fifty million dollars would finance the Philippine government for a year and a half.

Here's what has happened:
 Congress in 1934, with the approval of President Roosevelt, voted $23-862,750 credit to the Philippines as compensation for the decrease in the gold value of Filipino currency reserves in this country.

In 1935, however, both the house and senate rejected an appropriation to implement this credit.

Would Recall Credit

MOREOVER, Senator Adams of Colorado, a Democrat and a member of the senate banking and currency committee, has moved to expunge the Filipino equity from the books. Adams' contention is that the claim was given insufficient consideration.

Gottlieb has it that the banking and currency committee will side
 with Adams, despite the contention of the islands' counsel that the question rightly is under the jurisdiction of the senate's committee on insular affairs.

More than $25,000,000 is at stake
 in Paredes' effort to collect, process of the excise tax imposed by congress in 1934 on Philippine cocoanut oil used in this country. The coconut oil tax amendment to the 1934 revenue act provided that proceeds should be returned to the insular government. Litigation attacking the constitutionality of the tax
 has tied up even payment of this.

In addition, Philippine sugar exports, which account for about 60 per cent of the insular government's revenue, were restricted by the Jones-Costigan act. Benefit payments were made to growers until the supreme court invalidated AAA.
 Since, Philippine sugar exports have entered the United States under restrictions but with no compensation.

PAREDES also has had to contend with a series of suits involving some $4,500,000 of Philippine bank deposits in this country growing out of the preferred status given them when President Roosevelt declared
 his bank holiday in 1933.

Both a friend and adviser of Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Commonwealth, Paredes resigned as speaker of the insular house of representatives to become the islands' first resident commissioner after independence.

How he handles the job during the 10 year transition period the Philippines must undergo before independence becomes a reality is vital to future growth of the islands.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unemployment Solution
Memphis, Tenn.—James F. Phillips, 25, is a stander-in-line. With the deadline on automobile tags near and a long queue of waiting applicants outside the county clerk's office, Phillips makes 50 cents a trip by saving places in line for busy buyers. Phillips regrets that his job has seasonal limitations.

It's An Ill Wind

New Port, Ky.—Sightseers who wish to witness the "horror" of the Ohio river flood are being accommodated by a "gondolier" who rows them to danger spots and gives them their money's worth by having his associates fake rescues before their very eyes.

Involuntary Contributions

Reidsville, N. C.—Judge E. H. Wrenn conceived a new plan for helping the Red Cross raise flood relief funds. He added $1 to the fine of each convicted prisoner, and collected $6 the first day. He says he'll try it again.

A Trifle Late

Hollywood—A letter from London to Alice Faye of the films bore the grim label: "A matter of life or death."

It was a British fan's warning against eyebrow-plucking, on penalty of blindness. He had read a noted doctor's dissertation on the subject and could "tell from feeling that you are addicted to the practice."

NEW HURLEY

New Hurley, March 26—Mrs. Roy Denniston who has been ill with a severe cold for several days and under the care of Dr. Korn of Gardiner is improving.

Mrs. Martha Whitmore and Miss Myra Powell of Plattkill and Mr. and Mrs. LeVerne Powell of Modena were dinner guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powell.

Mr. and Mrs. Elting DuBois of Pinebush were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry DuBois Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Cocks of New York spent the week-end at the home of their niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Frances Garrison.

Mr. F. G. Schoonmaker is spending some time at the home of his daughter and family, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Striving at Stone Ridge.

Miss Jeanette VanArendonk of New Paltz spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Brown and daughter, Della.

The Rev. and Mrs. Vernon O. Nagel visited at the home of his brother, the Rev. Floyd Nagel at Duaneburgh this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dunsberger and son and Frank Dunsberger of Modena called on their aunt and cousins, Mrs. Isaac Sutton and family on Monday evening.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor of Valles Gate visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Powell on Monday.

The Young Women's Club will hold a pot luck lunch at the church hall on Friday, March 27.

A special offering will be taken at the regular church services next Sunday morning for the Red Cross to benefit the flood sufferers.

MT. MARION

Mt. Marion, March 26.—Miss Lilian Finger of Yonkers spent the week-end with her aunt, Miss Ella Finger.

The Mt. Marion P. T. A. will hold a card party and dance at Hill's on Friday, March 27.

There will be a Bible Class every Thursday evening in the lecture room of the church conducted by the Rev. Harvey Hoffman. Everyone is invited.

Erle Butler, brother of Mrs. Hoffman, has returned to his home in Holland, Michigan. After having spent some time visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman.

The Rev. Harvey Hoffman, of this community, has been invited to conduct sunrise services in Kingston on Easter morning.

On Palm Sunday morning, High Woods and Mt. Marion will hold joint services in the Mt. Marion Church and the double male quartet from Hope College, Holland, Mich., will sing during the services.

Gloria Vanderbilt Recovers

New York, March 26 (AP)—Little Gloria Vanderbilt, 13-year-old heiress to a $5,000,000 fortune, was released from the grippe today after several days of treatment by doctors who once testified against her mother in a custody battle for the child. Attorney Louis D. Frohlich, counsel for Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, the mother, said the child became ill of a cold while visiting her aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who has principal custody of her. Frohlich said the doctors had ordered the child to stay with her mother until further improvement in her condition is noted.

POLITICS at Random

THE issue of federal relief at last is assuming that special prominence which far-seeing politicians long have forecast for it.

The current struggle in congress is deep-seated and severe; but it is only a circumstance to what many on both sides expect once the campaign swings into full stride.

Mr. Roosevelt's message, asking for another $1,500,000,000 for the works progress administration, scarcely could have been better timed to produce controversy. It found the critics of WPA already going into action on many fronts, and WPA itself vehemently denying charges of gross inefficiency, impractical methods and political manipulation.

One definite distinction should be drawn. Few of those who object to the President's policies think further relief expenditures can be avoided, or regard the sum requested as necessarily excessive. The opposition does object vigorously to the way the money is being handled.

Thus the finger of controversy is pointed rather directly at Harry L. Hopkins, into whose hands this vast spending operation was put by Mr. Roosevelt. Aside from the principal candidates themselves, Mr. Hopkins promises to be exhibit No. 1 of the campaign.

A Natural Issue

THIS has come about by a process of natural evolution. Sooner or later, in the judgment of the political seers, relief was bound to come to the front because, in a field of complicated issues, this was one issue everyone knew about.

The constitution, the monetary policy, even the farm problem, seems remote to many voters. The new tax program is designed to touch only a small percentage.

But everybody in every community knows about relief. He either has direct contact with it, or he has seen its operation, or heard it discussed objectively in even the smallest gathering of his friends.

Its emergence as an overshadowing issue, which might logically have been expected much earlier in 1936, was delayed by force of circumstances. The President's decision to postpone his relief recommendation was followed by a season of engrossment in such issues as the bonus, farm aid, taxation. The delay has only accentuated the final impact.

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief Of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Similarly, in previous phases of the Roosevelt administration, various predecessors to Mr. Hopkins have played temporarily the role of exhibit No. 1. First it was Professor Moley around whom the controversy centered. Then it was General Johnson, then Dr. Tugwell. Now, unquestionably, it is Mr. Hopkins.

Watch Hopkins

IN VIEW of this, everything Mr. Hopkins does henceforth will come under the closest political scrutiny.

A great deal of the evidence on both sides still is undisclosed. No one denies that the vast relief undertaking involved many inevitable difficulties. Until all the facts are known, it will remain an open dispute whether these difficulties are sufficient to excuse some of the things which have happened.

It would be a gratifying thing to the country if so important a subject could be talked out calmly and judiciously, without partisan or temperamental outbursts on the part of Mr. Hopkins or any of his critics. But that probably is too much to expect in a campaign year.

Yes, friends, when you think of quality, think of mellow Old Quaker straight whiskey—rich and round and smooth—for there's a barrel of quality in every bottle! But it doesn't take a barrel of money to buy it—for Old Quaker is The Friendly Whiskey—mindful of your pocketbook as well as your taste and throat. And so today, why not change to friendly Old Quaker—and keep the change!

Broadway: "It Had To Happen." Taken from a story of Rupert Hughes the Broadway feature picture tells of a young man who comes to America via the steerage and on his way off the boat he sees a young heiress and resolves to work his way up to her level in society. He does just that and becomes a New York political big shot and again meets the lady he saw on the boat, now married to another man who has made the error of stealing other people's money from his bank. In a mixture of deceit and compromise, the affair works itself out to a regular movie conclusion with the poor steerage boy winning both the girl and fame despite all the difficulties of society and money that rose in his way to the top. George Raft plays the hero, Rosalind Russell the snob society girl who learns the meaning of love, and Leo Carrillo, Alan Dinehart, Arthur Hohl, Arline Judge and Paul Stanton. A 20th Century production supervised by Darryl Zanuck and directed by Roy Del Ruth.

Kingston: "Bohemian Girl" and "Drift Fence." The finest of the Laurel-Hardy comedy offerings is to be seen as the main attraction on the Kingston screen. Based on the opera of the same name, it describes the fate of two worthless members of a gypsy band. Together they get tangled up in the affairs of a princess and help her win her rightful place in the world. With noteworthy dramatization, flawless settings and photography plus a carefully worked out musical score, the "Bohemian Girl" is a first rank picture that should be seen by everyone. And Laurel and Hardy are at their best in this comedy musical. The cast offers Antonio Moreno, Jacqueline Wells, Mac Busch and Daria Hood. "Drift Fence" is a Zane Grey western thriller. Famous as a novel, it is also an exciting motion picture of rustlers and romance with Buster Crabbe heading the cast.

Orpheum: "The Lone Wolf Returns" and "Gallant Defender." The famous action character of author Louis Vance gets all messed up in trouble because of a girl in the main feature at the Orpheum. It is a fairly gripping mystery drama with the romantic Lone Wolf well played by Melvyn Douglas. "Gallant Defender" is the other full length attraction, based on a Peter B. Kyne story with Charles Starrett in the starring role.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same.

Kingston: Same.

Orpheum: "Steamboat Round the Bend." The late Will Rogers, fortified by Irving S. Cobb and Ann Shirley, has a gay time of it in this story of the old south and especially of the steam boat captains who traversed the Mississippi. Some of the funniest situations one could seek will be found in this homespun play along with a fair quantity of romance and action. Mr. Rogers is unusually good in his role of steamboat captain and a fine supporting cast lends able assistance.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—A new leading lady, sincere in performance and recording an interesting voice, attracted previewers of Al Jolson's new film, "The Singing Kid."

This musical, directed by William Keighley, is typical Jolson stuff, brightened considerably by two numbers sung by the Yacht Club boys.

Cab Calloway and his band, Edward Everett Horton, Sybil Jason, Allen Jenkins, Claire Dodd, Lyle Talbot, Winifred Shaw and Mitchell Duran all contribute more or less effectively.

Something new in film musicals is the early sequence in which the Yacht Club quartet and Jolson "argue" in song for nearly a reel of fast musical patter that ends in mania.

But this new leading lady, now...

Introducing Miss Roberts

She is Beverly Roberts, 21, full of energy, bright and intelligent. She is five feet four and a curly blonde, and more interested in the movies themselves than in personal details of wardrobe, coiffure and make-up which bother the lives of many of her contemporaries.

The only thing wrong with the movies, says Beverly Roberts—who is mighty glad to be a film actress—is some of the people in them.

"But then," she points out, "that is all that is wrong with the world." She thinks movies are to be increasingly important in the entertainment world, and she thinks it regrettable that so often Hollywood's attitude is that of a certain supervisor who said:

"What if this picture we're making is lousy? We'll be making hundred more."

(He was not, I take it, the supervisor on her own first picture. She already has played leads in two others, "Two Against the World" and "Souls O' Guns.")

Experience Varied

The movie found her "talking songs" at a New York night club. She had had stage experience in London, New York and Paris—"never in anything that lasted long enough to do me any good." She studied singing but gave it up for fear it would interfere with her ability to put over a "character song." She has yet to sing in films.

She wears her hair close-cropped because it is "too thin to do anything with." This precludes any possibility of her achieving an early ambition to be a "slinky stren" type.

She is the great-granddaughter of Dr. Edward Jenner, the father of smallpox vaccination.

COTTEKILL

Cottekill, March 26.—The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society will be held at the home of Mrs. Jacob Barley Thursday afternoon, April 2, at 2 o'clock.

Sunday School services 1:30 o'clock and church services 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. All are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Depuy celebrated their forty-ninth wedding anniversary Sunday at the home of their son, Arthur. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Depuy, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Depuy, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Depuy, son, Hadley, and Mr. Montross of Ellenville, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Depuy and a flood of Margaretville. All wished them many more years of wedded bliss.

Mrs. Charlotte Snodgrass of Kingston is spending the week with her friend, Mrs. Chris Snyder.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Stokes of Ossining, who are visiting her sister, Mrs. Gordon Keator, went on a fishing trip Wednesday taking Mrs. Keator with them.

1,000 Flood Victims in Spain

Mac Gregor and Mac Pherson decided to become trollopers, but Mac Gregor thought it would be best if they had one bottle of whiskey to put in the cupboard, in case of illness. After three days, Mac Pherson could hear it no longer and he said:

Mac Pherson—Mac Gregor, I'm not verra weel.

Mac Gregor—Too late, Mac Pherson, I was verra sick mesel' all day yesterday!

The sure way to succeed is to work hard and save money, but that is tried only as a last resort.

The sailor was recounting his experiences to a dear old lady.

Old Lady—But what rank did you hold?

Sailor—Ship's optician, lady.

Old Lady—Ship's optician? I never knew there was such a rank in the navy. What did your duty consist of?

Sailor—Scraping the eyes out of the potatoes, lady.

False teeth were a great invention so was a wooden leg, but they are nothing like as comfortable as the ones nature gave us.

Jasper—Why do you want a rubber plant in your garden?

Casper—I want to raise tires for my garden truck.

The fact that it hasn't been done throws doubt on the possibility of concocting anything more delicious than strawberry shortcake.

Rose—Why is the lettuce looking so wilted?

Rome, March 26 (AP)—Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander of the Italian forces in Ethiopia, reported today that the Italian armies in the north were conducting intense aviation activities, but that there was nothing noteworthy happening on the southern front.

The Canadian badger is a low, tick-set animal. Its body broad and fat, ears short, tail short, legs very short and powerful. Its coat is silvery gray. A white stripe runs back from the tip of the nose. It is more carnivorous than the European badger. It hibernates during the colder months of winter and is the only member of the weasel family to do so.

Scotch Checks

in the Knit-tex Coat

There is something of the Scotch hardness in the Knit-tex coat—with its drizzle-proof and wrinkle-resistant texture. It is fitting, then, that this coat should be presented in checked patterns derived from the Scotch Hound's Tooth and Shepherd's themes. Because it is light in weight yet extremely warm, it is a coat you can wear on innumerable occasions throughout the year—for business wear, for traveling, and for general knock-about usage. We know of no more versatile coat than Knit-tex.

OPEN NIGHTS FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Farm and Home Bureaus

Shokan. March 25.—An all-day meeting of the Shokan Home Bureau took place Tuesday at the residence of Mrs. Fred Adelt. The morning session was devoted to reports of local leaders. Mrs. Nell Windrum, crafts leader, in her report stated that the course in metal-work, as conducted last fall, proved an unusually successful project. Interest in this work extended beyond the membership of the local bureau, and at least one church society has decided, as a result of these lessons, to include homemade metal crafts articles in the contents of their tables at the annual church fair. Mrs. C. H. Weidner, local leader in the making of slip covers and the reconditioning of old furniture, reported three meetings held in connection with this project at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Davis in Olive Bridge. Covers for a living-room suite were made at these meetings.

Mrs. Floyd Merrihew, chairman of the Shokan bureau, told about the two community kitchen conferences which have been held, one at the Ashokan M. E. Church Hall and the other at the Reformed Church basement. Mrs. C. H. Weidner, nutrition project leader, reported having conducted several meetings, all of which had to do with the subject, "Let's Have Fewer Colds." The final meeting at which there was given practical demonstration of food values pertinent to the project, proved to be the most popular one of this series. Mrs. James Barker, reporting on the clothing project, stated that the interest of members in her course centered largely on patterns for accessories, several of the ladies having used these patterns to good advantage in supplementing their wardrobes.

Following the conclusion of local leaders' reports, a general discussion of tentative new projects for the local bureau was conducted by Miss Eunice Parsons, county agent. Subjects suggested were: Household Accessories, Reconditioning of Furniture, Community Meals, and Home Nursing. These suggestions will be considered by the Advisory Council at its May meeting in Kingston. It was next proposed to hold a one-day meeting on colors, probably during the summer as this is the only time than an expert from the state college can be secured as instructor in the subject. It was also announced that the first lesson in Landscaping will take place April 14. Miss Parsons invited the members to be present at a health talk to be given by Dr. Mathers, March 31, at 4 p. m., at the Home Bureau rooms on Wall street, Kingston. The ladies decided to have their second lesson on Consumer Buying on Tuesday, April 21, beginning at 10:30 a. m., at the home of Mrs. Floyd Merrihew in Ashokan. Further planning of the yearly program will also be taken up at this time. The meeting then adjourned until two o'clock. Pickles, jelly and coffee were added by Mrs. Adelt to the box lunches of those who remained for the afternoon session.

Mrs. Edgar M. Clarke, Jr., of Milton, the speaker of the afternoon, came to the meeting for the purpose of assisting the members in the work of planning a study course on Child Psychology, a subject which heretofore has not been taken up by Home Bureau units in Ulster county. Following is an outline, as presented by Mrs. Clarke, of the courses of study available to the local bureau during the ensuing year: 1.—Routine behavior of the pre-school child—two lessons each on eating, sleeping, bathing and dressing, with emphasis on the establishing of habits of regularity (the speaker here stressed the importance of persistence in teaching the child to do these things properly and also pointed out that this course was designed to assist in making the child's routine habits automatic). 2.—Non-routine behavior, or the relation of the child to its play and to adults and pets. Mrs. Clarke elaborated her outline with interesting anecdotes and expressions on child psychology, as presented by Mrs. Clarke, included the following: Pre-school education; children in the nursery; problems of the school child; development of the child during primary period; psychology of adolescence in boys and girls; character education; building personality; creative expression; mental health and family relationships. The speaker then distributed pamphlets from the state college of home economics in order that the members might be sent copies on the subjects in which they were most interested. Mrs. Clarke by way of illustrating her interesting and instructive talk, showed a number of toys and books, and also many pictures of pre-school children at the state college nursery school in Ithaca. Mrs. Merrihew then asked the members for donations to the Red Cross flood relief fund, and the sum of seven dollars was taken up for this purpose.

Members of the Shokan bureau present at Tuesday's meeting were as follows: Mrs. Fred Adelt, Mrs. Herman Weidner, Mrs. James Barker, Mrs. George Sickler, Mrs. Nell Windrum, Mrs. Edward Every, Mrs. Clyde Winchell, Mrs. Harold Davis, Mrs. LeRoy Davis, Mrs. Cecil Gray, Mrs. Santi Nadal and Mrs. August Pfau. Accompanying Mrs. Clarke was Mrs. Martin, also of Milton.

Food Sale

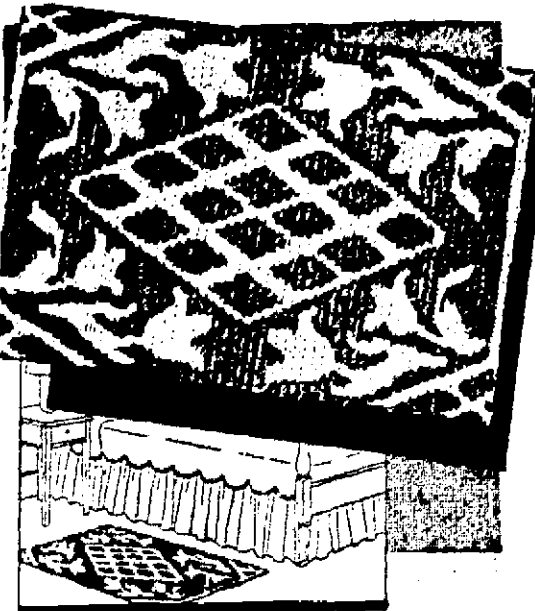

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Reformed Church will hold a food sale at the Wonderful store on Friday, March 27, at 1 p. m. Those in charge of the sale are: Mrs. E. O. Allen, chairman, Mrs. William Longyear, Mrs. Benson Miller and Mrs. Harry Rose.

Smarten Your Home With Crochet

"Is that your own crochet," your guests will exclaim who behold this lovely scatter rug beside your bed. Such a lovely pattern, too, for this tulip design is very easy to achieve. You can use rags or a very heavy cotton that gives endless wear, and wait till you see the matching scarf design, to be done in spring! The bathroom needs a new rug, too? Then border your towels with the same fllet design, for a smart "tie-up."

In pattern 5331 you will find complete directions and charts for making the rug, towel band and scarf; material requirements; color suggestions; illustrations of the articles and of all stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

MODES OF THE MOMENT

Rainwear offers capes or coats.

Lana Merwin

Whether we depend on the calendar, the old almanac or our experiences from year to year to warn us, there's no denying the fact that rainy days are in the offing. To be prepared for those spontaneous showers of early spring with a modish rain cape or coat to protect one's smart new suit or frock, is a wise gesture.

Rainwear is so highly styled this season that it is actually a pleasure to wear—the heavy bulkiness has been eliminated, with rubberized broadcloth, crepe de chine, seersucker and synthetic fabrics making up some of the smartest "light-weight" models.

For those who prefer capes—a stylish design of white rubberized broadcloth is pictured above. Its newest feature is its fullness which will gracefully cover any garment. Contrast is shown in the navy stitched trimming and buttons and the belt can be worn over or pulled through the cape in a fitted manner. This cape is equally attractive in tan with brown accents.

The brown swarager coat model is of rubberized crepe de chine, with a high buttoned neckline, raglan shoulders and deep-cut armholes, which allow it to slide smoothly over a suit or coat.

THE "FOUNDATION" OF SMARTNESS LIES IN MARIAN MARTIN WRAP-AROUND SLIP

PATTERN 9797

Have you given a thought to what foundation is best for your new Spring frock? You'll need one, you know, and what better style than a smooth-fitting wrap-around, which gives you all the sleekness of line which your most form-fitting frock demands. Slip into this without a struggle, adjust the narrow belt to comfortable snugness, and fasten securely in front. Note the non-slip straps that are cut in one with the moulded bodice? As days grow warmer, and frocks become more sheer, you'll revel in the fact that this slip is shadow-proof, too. Its neckline, also is cut quite low to accommodate your low-back frocks. It's ever so serviceable in unshrinkable rayon, washable satin or crepe. Complete. Diagrammed. Marian Martin Sew Chart included. Pattern 9797 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34. Size 26 requires 2 1/2 yards 28 inch fabric.

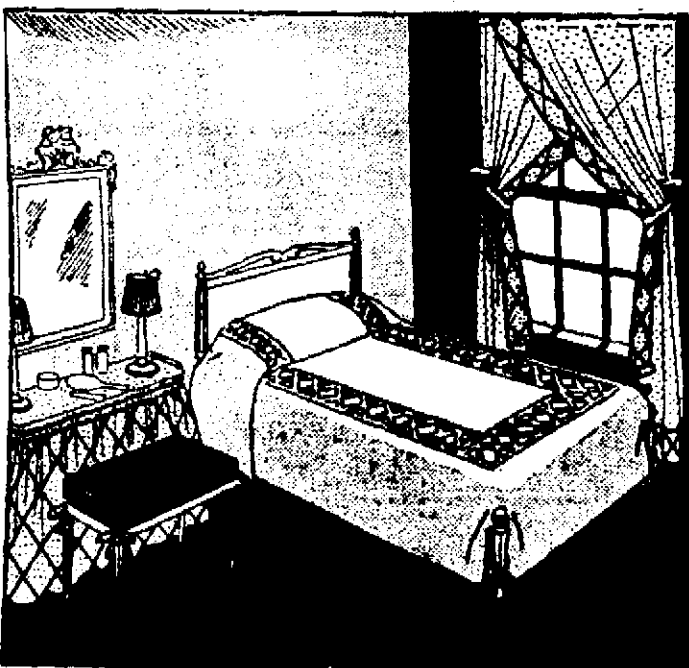

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (stamps preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

Sunny days ahead! Now—more than ever—you need our Marian Martin pattern book! Send for it today. Learn how to have a whole warm-weather wardrobe that's fashionable, money-wise, easy to make, and what makes you can work with special shirring designs, clever devices for little tots, news of the latest fabrics and accessories all clearly pictured. Price of book 15 cents. Book and a pattern together, 25 cents.

Send your order to The Kingston Daily Freeman Pattern Department, 252 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y.

PERSONALITY IN BEDROOMS

MAKE RED AND WHITE SET FOR YOUR ROOM

Cherry-red and white! What a dashing color scheme for a bedroom!

The curtains of white dotted Swiss have a seven-inch border on which red eoutache braid is stitched in a diamond pattern. If you attach the braid in the space between the dots on the Swiss, you will thus mark out the diamond pattern.

The curtain tie-backs, with red braid of either edge, have bunches of artificial cherries. Make them of large round red buttons, with leaves or green felt, and stems made of brown floss, several strands of it twisted together into a thick cord. Knot a cherry on each end of a bit of cord, and fasten the cord near its center to the bunch of leaves, making the stems of different length.

Make the top of the dressing table of plain white dotted Swiss. The skirt with the braided diamond pattern. Stitch to within 2 1/2 inches of the top edge of the skirt. Work up from the bottom, don't cut the braid when you get to the stopping line, but carry it across and down the next line, using rather a large diamond.

Then shirr the top edge of the skirt, folding over an inch wide heading at the top, and making two rows of shirring about an inch apart. Cover the stitching with rows of the braid.

The boudoir lamps have shades of dotted Swiss, edged with red braid, with trimming of button cherries. The stool cover is of red chintz, dotted with white. It is tied in place with twisted cord ending in red button cherries.

The bedspread is of unbleached muslin, with a diamond-patterned border done in white tatting. Or, carry out the design in huge French knots, using perle cotton in the coarsest size available.

You'll find dozens of clever ideas in our 40-page illustrated Home Institute booklet, HAND-MADE FOR THE BEDROOM. Inexpensive and easy to carry out, with clear, step-by-step directions. Curtains with French pleats; pretty bedspreads; modern chest accessories. How to do tatting, cording, Italian quilting, etc.

Port Ewen, March 26.—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mills have returned from an extended visit to Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Van Kleeck and daughter have moved into the upper flat of the former Mowell house.

The Peeters' Dramatic Club will present the play, "Anthony's Antics", in the Methodist Episcopal Church house on Wednesday evening, April 1.

Master Joseph O'Reilly has recovered from his recent illness.

Congratulations are extended to the Port Ewen Methodist Episcopal Church basketball team which has just won the Church Basketball League championship for the second year in succession.

The Men's Community Club will play softball with the St. Paul's team at Kingston at 8 o'clock Friday evening. Those going will meet at the Reformed Church hall at 7:45 o'clock that evening.

A number of members of the Eastern Stars attended the Eastern Star banquet and meeting Tuesday evening.

The people of this community were shocked to hear of the sudden death of John M. Neal of Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, Monday. Mr. Neal was a former resident of Port Ewen and had many friends in this place. Sympathy is extended to the bereaved members of his family.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will hold its conference supper on Thursday evening, April 2, at 6 o'clock. As this will be the last big supper, the Ladies' Aid Society will put on a large attendance is expected. The menu is as follows: Roast lamb as dressing, meat loaf and brown gravy, mashed potatoes, peas, cabbage salad, white and brown bread, lemon meringue pie, tea or coffee.

At the fourth quarterly conference held in the Methodist Episcopal Church Tuesday evening, a unanimous call was extended to the Rev. J. Thoburn Legg to return as pastor of the church for another year. Both Mr. and Mrs. Legg are held in affection by the church congregation. All hope to keep them in their midst.

Alaskan Predatory Destroyers
Juneau, Alaska, March 26, (AP).—Bands of wild dogs have joined coyotes, wolves, bobcats, wolverines and lynx as serious predators destroying Alaska game animals, the forest service reported today.

Silver Pierces Hand
Adam Salzmann, of the Salzmann Bakery on Abel street, had the misfortune to have a silver, an inch and a half long, pierce the back of his hand Wednesday. He went to the Kingston Hospital, where the silver was removed by Dr. Snyder.

Cured By 'Miracle'

Adeline Glover, 40, crippled 15 years ago, arose from her bed and walked, she said, after a lightning flash outside the window of her Keyport, N. J., home. "It was a miracle sent by heaven," she declared. (Associated Press Photo)

Charges Vandalism In $23,732 Suit

New York, March 25 (Special).—Charging seven defendants with vandalism in an action started by him today in United States District Court here, Harold C. Hader of Jersey City, formerly a property owner in Benton Corners, Gardiner, has filed suit for $23,732 damages.

The defendants are John H. Flynn, William Woodruff, Paul Sullivan, David Hirschowitz, Michael Bolan, Frank Thornton and Joseph Mealy.

Hader states he was the owner of machinery, fixtures and other property at Benton Corners. On November 3, 1935, he states, the defendants entered his establishment there, broke up and destroyed the contents, completely demolishing and ruining the property with blow torches and sledge hammers. He sets the damages at $23,732.

Hope Abandoned for 27
Manila, March 26 (AP).—Manila marines all but abandoned hope today of hearing from 27 persons, missing for a week aboard the little sailing ship Commonwealth. The 40-foot craft, officially described as unseaworthy and overloaded, disappeared in storm off the southern Philippines.

GOOD NEWS FROM OUR DOWN STAIRS STORE

New Line of Silk Hose! DOWN STAIRS

Here Is a Big Surprise For You.

We have been scouring the market to find the best Silk Stocking at a price. Finally our Famous No-Mend Hosiery Salesman agreed to sell us for our Downstairs Store their irregulars of our Upstairs No-Mends.

No-Mend Inspectors are so critical and careful in inspecting their Hose that you and I with the naked eye would pass many as first quality, while they discard these and call irregular. Never in our history have we ever carried an irregular, but these are so perfect — THEY ARE NOT SECONDS. We examined every pair when they were marked, and cannot find any imperfection. When there are this good you do not need to be afraid to buy them, as THE WONDERLY CO. WILL STAND BACK OF EVERY PAIR YOU BUY.

All New Spring Colors, Regular and Extra Long. Chiffon and Service Weight. Selling upstairs for $1.00 & $1.15.

New Shanghai Elections

Shanghai, March 26 (AP)—The Shanghai consular body, acquiescing to Japanese demands, decided today to invalidate Tuesday's balloting and instruct the Municipal Council to call a new election April 21 for councilors. The original count showed that the council would maintain its former composition of five British, two American and two Japanese members, despite Japanese efforts to increase their representation. Officials found that more than 300 ballots had not been counted—most of them Japanese.

Final Forum at Y. M. C. A. Sunday

The final forum in the series of broadside forums that have been held at the Y. M. C. A. during the winter months will be held at the "Y" on Sunday evening at 9:15. The topic of Sunday's discussion will be "Is World Peace Possible?" The leader will be Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom.

This forum is the seventh and final in the series that have been held bi-weekly throughout the winter months of January, February and March. All of these discussions have been jointly sponsored by the Ulster County Christian Youth Council and the Young Men's Christian Association. The average attendance at the forums has been forty-five people at each forum.

The forum is held in the large front room of the "Y", whose attending being group of the general public. The forum is open to the general public. Refreshments are served following the discussion.

OLD-FASHIONED BREAKFAST PERSISTS IN NEW ENGLAND

Boston, March 26 (P)—Those epicureans who would return the "good old days" of big breakfasts should come to New England—where a man may eat a steak and top it off with a bit of juicy pie before starting to work.

Such breakfasts are found yet in farm houses in New England—prodigious meals including home-made sausage, buckwheat and griddle cakes with syrup, pork and ham—and where the old traditions hold, there will be apple or mince pie and cottage cheese.

"Up north"—that being near the Canadian line—is the deer country—and there a traveler may be served a venison steak, boiled eggs, raised doughnuts, corn-cake and many other foods which would amaze those who grab their breakfasts off a quick-lunch counter.

A more or less ordinary Sunday morning meal runs like this:

Fried liver and bacon, broiled beefsteak, creamed brown bread, toast, in deer season venison steak, and in fishing season fried trout and corn-cake; and dessert of raised doughnuts, and maple syrup or deep dish apple pie with three or four brands of cheese from which to choose.

One disadvantage of a big country is that so many catastrophes can happen at once.

New York, March 26 (P)—Already Fred Allen is looking forward to a two-months air vacation this summer. To make certain he gets it, he decided today just who would take over his Town Hall broadcasts on NBC. The vacation relief will be the CBS pair, Colonel Stoopnagle and Budd, who just recently started anew on their Alma Mater chain. While Fred is away, the Colonel and Budd will continue the present setup, including the amateur division.

For the first week-end of April, two broadcasts from the political arena, Republican division, are announced. The first will present Herbert Hoover in his Ft. Wayne, Ind., address of 45 minutes duration, which WJZ-NBC will carry the night of April 4. The topic is "Has the New Deal Solved Our National Problems?" The other, on WABC-CBS the following Sunday, is coming from Topeka, Kan., where H. V. Kaltenborn is to interview Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas on public issues.

Made Up My Mind To Get Thin...and Did!

It was so simple! I ate what I liked, took no strenuous exercises,
and weakened my body with drastic regimes—yet day by day I felt myself getting lighter, the fat seemed slip away. Now I have a lovely, acetic figure—and I never felt better in my life!

That, in brief, is what thousands of women who have reduced their armies of pounds might well tell you.
Four times a day they take a little bit containing in exactly the right proportion a world-famous corrective substance—Marmola. A corrective described by physicians everywhere and acknowledged to be the most effective known.

Since 1907, more than 20 million packages of Marmola have been purchased. Could any better recommendation be had?

Today—buy a package of Marmo-la and start at once. Soon you will experience Marmola's benefits. When you have gone far enough, stop taking Marmola. And you will bless the day you first discovered this marvelous reducing agent.

Marmola is on sale by dealers
everywhere—from coast to coast.

New Paltz Normal School Activities

New Paltz, March 26.—A meeting of the Sigma Pi Sigma was held Thursday evening in the social room.
During the business plans were made for the Sigma Pi Sigma Convocation to be held in New Paltz during the month of May. After the business Miss Ruth Tinney was initiated into this honor society and following the initiation the faculty members were entertained by the members of the society.

The Kindergarten-Primary Club held its regular monthly meeting the past week. During the business session the club voted to send two delegates to the convention of the National Education Association which was held March 18 and 19. After the business the principal's wife, Mrs. Lawrence M. Van den Berg, addressed the club on the subject,
"The Schoolmam—Plus." A tea followed the meeting, which proved very delightful to all present.

The Band and Orchestra enjoyed a party last Thursday evening. The guest list consisted of only those students who had shown and proved a lasting interest in music. The faculty guests were Prof. and Mrs.
Howard B. Hoffman, Miss Jennie Lee Dann, Miss Gertrude Strobel and Miss Marion Harding. Robert Prins acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the entertainment menu.
The performers were: Harold Darling, Lee Schmidt, Charles Alexander and Evelyn Rubin and a brass quartet of freshmen instrumentalists;
they were: Herbert Zickler, Robert

Prins, Dick Perkins and Gordon Osborne. The decorations were in keeping with the spirit of the evening.
Refreshments were also enjoyed and the happy events ended by singing
the Alma Mater.

The Student Council met on Tue-
day afternoon, March 17.
The House Mothers' tea was held on Wednesday afternoon, March 18.
New Paltz Vandals lost to East Stroudsburg Frosh basketball team to the score of 48-44. It was New Paltz's second defeat at the hands
of this team, having been defeated
before by the score of 31-25 earlier in the season.

The members of the Professional Ethics class taught by Dean Miss Grace Mac Arthur entertained the faculty at tea Thursday afternoon
in the Social Room from four-thirty to five-thirty. Miss Emily Lieber-geld and Miss Helena Olds poured.
Eva Lund was the chairman in charge and the chairmen of the sub-committee were Winnie Crance, Rita Clark, Betty Thomas, Marian McLaughlin, Edwina Parsons, Lena Marino and Lena Beatty.

The Inter-society Council met last Monday, the following were appointed a committee to revise the constitution. Chairman, Adelaide Rhineman, Kay Ross and Marjorie Brochard. The committee appointed to schedule dates for next year's calendar are: Edith Haber, chairman, Lillian Twomey and Marian McLaughlin.

The Junior High Club enjoyed a talk by Dr. Roland G. Will at their last meeting, his topic was, "Just Right." Those who attended the Junior High Conference at New York University last week-end were Mrs. Long, Miss Stella Higgins, Miss Gertrude Strobel, Philip Townsend and Albert Demarest.

Members of the Arts and Crafts club visited "The Museum of Art"
the "Modern Art Museum" the "New Building" and other places of interest on their visit to New York city Wednesday and Thursday, they also attended current production
at one of the theatres.

The Outing Club sponsored a tea for the Alumni and all students of the Normal school last Saturday.
Those who served on the committee
for this affair were: Ester Weiss, Charlotte Dietz, Elsie Wheat, Ethel
Angyal, Dorothy Lillis, Elsie Bell, Adelaide Waldron, Elsie Hannigan, Rita Clark, Eleanor Young and Margaret Burns.

The Dramatic Club held their meeting on Wednesday, March 18.

SHANDAKEN

Shandaken, March 26.—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wood were Kingston visitors on Friday.

The turkey supper held in the
M. E. Church hall on Thursday evening under the auspices of the men of the church was largely attended.
The receipts were around $119.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Ford made a trip to Oneonta on Thursday.

Mrs. L. B. Buley and Mrs. C. E.
Wood called on Mrs. Earl Holden on Tuesday. Mrs. Holden has been ill for some time but is improving.

The repairs to the road to Bushnellville is being pushed forward rapidly. A large force of men and trucks is at work building a temporary road bed. It is expected the State Highway Department will begin operations as soon as possible.

Mrs. George H. Guinick, Sr., suffered a fracture of her collar bone
by a fall on Monday.

will meet at the home of Mrs. Jessie Snider Thursday afternoon of this week, at 3 p. m. Theme: Indians, word: wisdom.

"Gypsies of the Crops" is the title of a movie to be given in the church basement next Sunday evening by the Lead-A-head Society.
This will present the work of the Domestic Mission Board in dealing with 2,000,000 people in labor
camps in the south.

Communicants class will meet at the parsonage Friday at 7:30 p. m.
The Men's supper will not be held March 27, but is postponed. Further notice will be given.

Maybe political emotions will be all used up by the time the actual campaign starts, and then we'll have some thinking.

LOUIS PERRY OPENS 66th FAIRLAWN STORE TODAY

A new Fairlawn store was opened for business this morning, at the corner of Gill and East Union streets. Louis Perry is the proprietor and will carry a line of groceries, fruits and vegetables. This makes the 66th Fairlawn store opened in this district, under the sponsorship of Everett & Treadwell, since the movement started in this section in September of 1934. The organization started with 42 member stores and 24 stores have been enrolled under the Fairlawn banner since that time.

18TH ANNIVERSARY OF NEW YORK SAMPLE SHOP

The New York Sample Shop, 235 Wall street, will observe its 18th anniversary in Kingston with a sale to begin Saturday of this week. Since the establishment of the store on Wall street Ben Feln has been manager and during his residence in Kingston he has made a wide circle of friends. So successful was the New York Sample Shop from its institution that in 1927 the firm purchased the Clermont Building at Wall and John street where the store is located. The building has since been remodeled and many improvements made including the installation of several new store fronts and the remodeling of the upper floors.

MENUS OF THE DAY

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

Mushrooms For Dinner

Meal For Three Or Four
Mushroom Rice Escallop
Buttered Spinach
Biscuits
Vegetable Salad
Lemon Filled Cookies
Coffee Or Tea

Mushroom Rice Escallop

1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers, cooked
2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup boiled rice
1/2 cup mushrooms, cooked
1/2 cup cream
1/2 cup diced celery, cooked

Melt butter, add flour and when mixed add milk. Cook until creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add rest of ingredients, excepting rice, crumb, cheese and paprika. Pour into buttered shallow baking dish and cover with cheese mixed with crumbs. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake 20 minutes in hot oven. Serve in dish in which baked.

Lemon Filled Cookies

1/2 cup fat
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg
1 teaspoon cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream fat and sugar. Add egg and cream, beat well. Add rest of ingredients. Chill dough for an hour or longer. Roll out stiff dough until very thin. Cut out circles and spread half with the filling, cover with remaining half and prick tops with fork. Bake 12 minutes on greased baking sheet in moderate oven.

Lemon Filling

1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Blend sugar, flour and salt. Add rest of ingredients. Cook slowly and stir constantly until mixture thickens and becomes very creamy. Beat well and cool.

Police Stage Drive On One Light Cars

The police department last evening made three arrests in Kingston of auto drivers accused of operating cars with only one headlight lighted and no tail light. Hans Strobel of Route 3 had his hearing set down for Friday in police court as did Irving B. Rappaport of Ellenville, both charged with driving cars with only one headlight lighted and no tail lights.

John Liccardo of 42 North Front street, arrested on a charge of having but one headlight and no tail light lighted on his car, was arraigned this morning in police court and Judge Culliton instructed him to have the lights fixed and then drive the car to the city hall so that it could be inspected.

Elizabeth Rickerson of this city was fined $5 for public intoxication.

Physical Award Split
Syracuse, N. Y., March 26 (AP)—The American Physical Education Association had to split its annual honorary award for achievement this year because there were two recipients—the Fauver twins, Dr. Edgar and Dr. Edwin. The twins are athletic directors, physical education department heads and college physicians—Dr. Edgar at Wesleyan University and Dr. Edwin at the University of Rochester.

The United States office of education reports a decrease of about 30 per cent in the number of one-room schools during the last 19 years.

Bogert Estimates State Road Damage In County at $25,000

Damage suffered to the state highway system of Ulster county has been estimated at about $25,000 by County Engineer D. V. Z. Bogert. Mr. Bogert stated today that the damage done to the state roads was principally confined to slides and washouts which had to be cleared. Shoulder washouts and other minor items were quickly repaired and the slides on state routes have been removed. The damage to the Walkkill valley to state routes was not great though the Walkkill river overflowed its banks and submerged a section of the country. Along the Walkkill these spring floods are customary and preparations are made each year for the anticipated damage.

Committee Named to Investigate School Site for Mt. Tremper

Voters of the Mt. Tremper school district, town of Shandaken, crowded the school house Wednesday afternoon to attend a special school meeting which was called to determine what should be done to relieve the school problem caused by the damage to the existing school property through flood.

Prior to the meeting two plans had been discussed. One to erect a new building on a lot distant from the Esopus creek and the other was to consolidate with Phoenicia. The present school house had to be abandoned after the flood because of the fact that the Esopus creek carried away most of the school yard and threatened to undermine the school house and drop it into the stream. A few days after the flood the high wind carried away about half of the school house roof. Since the flood, school has been held in the church hall, across the street.

District Superintendent Wallace Andrews was in attendance at the meeting Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. R. P. Ingersoll was elected chairman of the meeting and when the question of business came up there seemed to be perfect accord among all. The voters decided to continue to hold school in the church hall for the balance of the term.

It was unanimously voted to appoint a committee to investigate the proposition of purchasing a lot with the idea of erecting a new school house. There was no mention made of the idea to consolidate with Phoenicia, which had been discussed prior to the meeting.

The committee appointed to inspect and secure options and prices on lots was Reginald Every, Frank Carle, George Byron, Sr., and Andrew Lane, trustee.

It is understood that prior to the meeting the proposition to consolidate with Phoenicia was investigated and it was learned that in order to do this Phoenicia would have to have additional school room. It was reported that in the event of a consolidation that Phoenicia would have to erect a new building and would ask the Mt. Tremper district to stand a substantial portion of the cost. Rather than do this the district seemed to prefer its own school. No mention was made of consolidation and there was apparently a unanimous desire to have the district continue its individual identity.

A question which has been causing much discussion in the district was also disposed of when the meeting voted to give to the Ecker interests title to a property which has been in dispute on consideration that in return they give a quit claim deed to the school property. There was a difference of opinion as to whether the district had clear title to the school property and also a difference of opinion as to whether the district did not have some interest in another parcel of land upon which Mr. Ecker has a barn. The action taken Wednesday disposed of both matters in a friendly manner.

Ladysmith's Defense Was Achievement of Boer War

At the beginning of the Boer war the main effort of the Boers was an invasion of Natal and Cape Colony, observes a writer in the Detroit News. The number of British troops in South Africa was only about 22,000 and half of these were in Natal under the command of Sir George White, whose headquarters were at Ladysmith. By November, 1900, that city was under siege by the Boers; reinforcements from Great Britain under General Buller made repeated attempts to raise the siege but it was not until the end of February that relief came. According to one authority:

"The successful defense of Ladysmith was from a military point of view the most valuable achievement of the war, inasmuch as the loss of a garrison of 12,000 men would have been a graver disaster than any conceivable defeat in the open field; and moreover the fall of Ladysmith was to be the signal for the general rising of the Dutch in the Cape Colony and Natal."

Queen Victoria, who died on January 22, 1901, before the end of the war, was greatly interested in the campaign, visiting the wounded, hearing the reports of Lord Roberts and other generals, going to Dublin to thank the Irish people for their support, etc.

Two Types of Dachshunds

There are two types of dachshunds (pronounced doxhunds and not dashhounds), the smooth-coated and the wire or rough coated variety, states a writer in the Los Angeles Times. The first is the one most commonly seen, the latter, thought to be the result of a cross with either the Scottish terrier or Schaeffer. They were first introduced abroad as a popular breed in the year 1890 and quickly won a spot in the hearts of the dog fanciers.

Mizpah, Anciently Name

However, there were five other places named Mizpah or Mizpeh.

"Most Lovable of Composers"
Franz Schubert (1797-1828) was born in Lichtenthal, a village just north of Vienna, and was a son of the parish schoolmaster. He was a student of the famous Salleri. He earned his living by instructing in music in schools and in private homes. He died of typhoid when not quite thirty-two years old. He composed an amazing amount of work for such a brief career. He is known chiefly as a lyric writer and a composer of beautiful melodies and has often been called "the most lovable of composers."

The Pomeranian Dogs

It is the belief of many that Pomeranians originated in Pomerania. The early specimens were bred from the large and sturdy white Spitz dogs, and also bred from the sledge dogs of both Lapland and Iceland. In short—the wee Poms' heritage is rich with the tradition of the dogs from the frozen northlands.

Refreshments were served and a delightful time was had by all. Mr. Shew was a former pastor here and the couple was exceedingly popular. Congratulations are extended Mr. and Mrs. Shew on their golden wedding anniversary.

On Tuesday afternoon the Lowell Club met with the Misses Quimby. During the business session it was voted to contribute $5 to the Red Cross Flood Relief Fund. An announcement was made of the Good Fellowship luncheon to be given at the Y. W. C. A. next week. The first paper for the afternoon was one of much interest on "Life on Waterways," China, by Mrs. J. W. Van Buren. Miss A. D. Quimby read a very interesting paper on "Chinese Art. Painting, Sculpture and Architecture." A paper of particular interest to the women was that on "The Industrial Arts: woven fabrics, embroideries, carvings, enamels, porcelains and bronzes," by Mrs. J. W. Van Buren. A valuable paper on "The Symbol of the Dragon," was read by Mrs. Steinert. In the absence of Mrs. Cole due to illness. The afternoon's

Flowers, like the rest of us, have their several characteristics, good, bad, and indifferent. Peony is a much-valued wild flower. Our successors used to say, "Sell your coat and buy peony." Hebrews Trim Morgenweckers in Exhibition Contest by 35-23

The Philadelphia Hebrews stretched their victories to seven over Kingston Wednesday night at the Municipal Auditorium by trimming the Cities Service cagers, 35-23, in a post season game that was as flashy as a regular American League duel with both clubs putting forth all they had to cop the duke.

Both clubs used lightning pace work, but the Hebrews made their count to a greater extent. They maneuvered the ball into positions from which they scored often than the Gasliners of Pop Morgenweck, the Phillies outshooting the Kingstons from the boards, 30-20. The SPAHS made five fouls and the Morgenweckers three.

Inky Lautman did the major scoring for the victors, tossing in five fields and one free one for 11 points, highest individual total of the contest. Cy Kaselman and Gil Fitch made seven and five respectively for the tossers of Eddie Gottlieb, who didn't make the trip from Philadelphia last night to see his team play.

Frank Shimek, Corky Stanton and Tiny Hearn did most of Kingston's offensive work, gleaming seven, six and five points in the order named. Captain Carlie Husta, sledge run of the Kingston attack in nearly all of the American League games, went scoreless from the field as Sid Rosen, ex-Temple University topper, bore down last night.

Kingston took a 7-1 lead in the first period but lost it near the end of the frame which ended 9-8 in favor of Philly. The Hebrews continued in the van throughout the rest of the contest.

Next on the schedule for Kingston in its post-American League season campaign is the Renaissance Five and the Celtics, the dates being April 1 and 6.

Hercules Will Not Enter City League

According to an announcement made Wednesday night by George Walker and Andy Gilday, co-managers of the Hercules Powder Co. baseball team, Hercules will not enter the City Baseball League this season.

The understanding is that Hercules players will be free to sign up with other league teams.

Last year Hercules were among the leaders. In fact it took a play-off with the Berardi A. C. team to decide the championship, which was finally won by the Berardi team.

The Unnamed Five Takes First Game in Series With A. A. Girls

The first of a scheduled series of three games between the Unnamed Five and the Kingston A. A. girls teams, was played at the Municipal Auditorium Wednesday night as a preliminary to the Philadelphia Sphas-Cities Service game.

The Unnamed Five won easily, 24 to 1, after being held to a 6-4 score at the first half, players on both teams apparently suffering more or less from "nerves" during the opening session.

E. Kellner, who gathered in four fields and J. Kennedy, with three, were leading scorers for the winners. D. Zeek, with four points and L. Tremper with three, were high for the A. A. girls.

SO THE MANAGERS SAY

By BILL McKECHNIE

Dooten Boes

St. Petersburg, Fla. (P)—From all I read about managers' forecasts in the newspapers, I guess there won't be any last place club in the National league this year. I don't go in for predictions, but if they are tagging us for the cellar they'll be fooled.

Our club is under construction and will be for some time. We have just started to rebuild. We'll keep on building until we have a pennant contender and then keep right on building. Yet, I am positive that we will not wind up in eighth place this year.

A Veteran Foundation

Personally, I rate the present club as the best potential team I have had since coming to Boston in 1930. It is young, will make many mistakes and stumble at times, but it won't be a door mat for any team. It'll have a lot of good days.

As a nucleus we have experienced men at strategic spots—Al Lopez, catcher; Bill Urbanaki, shortstop; Tony Cucinello, second base, and Wally Berger in the centerfield. There is a spirited fight on for every other position on the club.

Pitching should be good. We have a flock of youngsters who seem to have excellent possibilities to round out a capable mound staff with such veterans as Ben Cantwell, Bob Brown, Ray Renge, Johnny Babich and Danny MacFadden. We're counting on them as we gave away probably the biggest part of our staff to make necessary trades.

A Rookie Named Quinn

In all my years of baseball, I never have seen a finer spirit than we have on our club. Not only do the youngsters and veterans alike figure to have a good season, but they are hustling and cheering each other all day.

Another important "rookie" we have at Boston this year is Bob Quinn, back again with us as president of the club. I regard him as one of the smartest builders in baseball. He has started well. There seems to be no limit to what he can do.

Townsend Plan Supporters to Meet

Off to a flying start last Tuesday evening with some 300 persons in attendance, propagandists for the Townsend Plan have rented the unused tabernacle on Elmendorf street at Wiltwyck avenue for a second meeting, to be held next Tuesday evening with an unnamed speaker as the attraction.

It was announced that the speaker would be a prominent Kingstonian, who has had considerable experience in economics.

Last Tuesday the meeting was held at Byrne's Hall on Broadway, with Manager Howard Eaton of Albany as the speaker. He presented the outline of the plan, which has caused such controversy during the last year, in a manner which made its working plausible to the ordinary man.

The local branch of the organization has been established for about three weeks, and already claims more than 200 members. One of the local clubs would have 500 members in three months and more than 1,000 before the end of the year.

Dollars Grow in 'No Man's Land' When Women Seize Plow Handles

By PAUL K. LEE

Somerset, Ohio (AP)—Spring planting is beginning out in "No man's land," one of Perry county's best kept farms, whose 127 acres are tilled and tended exclusively by four women.

Ranging in age from 41 to 95, the women of the Mechling family have won a living from the soil for more than 13 years, unaided by neighbors or hired men.

When Levi Washington Mechling died, his widow, Anna, now nearing 85, decided to continue operating the farm. She has done so ever since, assisted by her two daughters, Misses Ruth and Corelda, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Ann Mechling, who will be 95 April 17. In all the years, credits have been on the right side of the ledger.

Two "Hired Hands"

Ruth, 41, and Corelda, 43, term themselves the "hired hands," and there is nothing about the farm that they cannot do, from plowing and planting to building fences.

In the words of Aunt Mary Ann, whose chief job now is making quilts and shelling corn, "Everybody around here has her work to do and does it."

Aunt Mary Ann, who remembers Gen. Phil Sheridan of Civil War fame as a Somerset schoolboy, keeps up with world news by reading three newspapers daily.

"Going to Town"

Mrs. Anna Mechling, owner of the farm, prepares the meals, mows the lawn and tends to the stock, while her two sturdy daughters work in the fields.

"I'm glad the winter has broken up," commented Ruth Mechling. "We've been going to bed at 10 o'clock every night and getting up at 5 o'clock in the morning. That gets monotonous. We haven't been to town for three months, but as soon as this spring work is done we are going over to Somerset to see what's going on."

Book Containing Poem By Carroll Goes To $310 After Spirited Bids

New York (AP)—The magic name of Lewis Carroll, author of "Alice in Wonderland," made book collectors bid frantically for a little known, privately printed book at a sale here. When the hammer banged, its price was announced as $310. The purchaser was Alfred F. Goldsmith, Carroll expert.

The book, called "The Garland of Rachel" by John Addington Symonds "And Divers Kindly Hands," was printed at Oxford in 1881 at the press of H. Daniel. Because Carroll was one of the contributors, the book became the rarest Daniel Press item and was eagerly sought after. Daniel had a daughter named Rachel, and it was in her honor that he asked his friends, among them Carroll, to write a poem to go into the book. Carroll at first said he couldn't write such a poem; in a letter to Daniel he wrote to the effect that if he essayed such a poem, the best he could do would be: "O podgy podgy pod."

He relented, however, and his poem in "The Garland" is in English.

Stephen Collins Foster, author of "My Old Kentucky Home," was born in Pittsburgh, Pa.

More Border Fighting Hurts Negotiations

Moscow, March 26 (AP)—A fresh outbreak of border fighting dealt a rude shock today to Soviet-Japanese negotiations for settlement of the troubled Far-Eastern situation.

Both sides suffered the loss of life in an engagement which lasted for hours yesterday and which resulted, Soviet advisers said, from a Japanese attack on a Soviet border post near Khundun, southwest of Vladivostok. The Kremlin, immediately on receipt of the news, instructed Ambassador Constantine Yourenoff at Tokyo to present a strong protest to the Japanese government.

The Soviet communique reporting

the encounter, did not mention the effect it might have on negotiations for appointment of a mixed commission to investigate the causes of the recurring boundary incidents.

Soviet dispatches said a frontier post near Khundun, on the Soviet-Manchoukuoan boundary, was attacked yesterday afternoon by from 50 to 60 Japanese soldiers who opened fire with machine guns after taking a position inside Soviet territory.

The invaders, Soviet reports said, were driven back finally to Manchou, leaving several dead wounded.

Earlier the same day, the news said, seven Japanese attacked a frontier guard of five men in same district and were driven off after an exchange of shots, leaving Japanese officer and a soldier dead.

Texas now formally devotes to the mother-in-law, which like skimping the problem, York Sun.
